

From Columbia with Love (and Light)

When I first visited Jeanne my heart was full of anticipation and expectation because I had the feeling that some very special experience was about to change my life; I was right and it was something that was waiting for me since a long time ago.

In 1996 I came to England, from Colombia my native place, following a spiritual search that very strangely took me to London. To my surprise, and that of some of my friends that could not see the relationship between London and spirituality, I end up living a very hectic life style, full of all the intensity and madness of the big city. In that intensity I met Mark, my husband, best friend and dearest love. After a few years of feeling a bit lost and asking myself for more understanding about my spiritual direction, I started the path of healing thanks to wonderful gifts of life and beautiful friends that show me some of the ways I could look to heal my soul, body and mind. Years went pass and my life was founding its meaning guided by love, light and faith but still I felt that there was something else to come that was the reason for my travel to England. It was through a friend of Mark that I end up contacting Jeanne for an appointment to have a path reading.

I was full of excitement and curiosity travelling to my meeting with her and when a first saw Jeanne I still did not get in my head the profundity of that moment.

Jeanne took me immediately to the 'crystal room' and very friendly just talk to me to relax and feel free to talk about what I wanted from that meeting; I will always remember everything from that moment. My heart started to feel at peace, a peace that I had long for and Jeanne showed me step by step how that peace was within me all this time. We did some chakras exercise, she was guiding, I was visualizing and allowing the healing to happen. I had no notion of time but shortly I felt connected with her amazing power and enlightenment. She helps me to open and my questions began to appear almost without thinking. All the answers were so clear. That some very special experience I had anticipated was happening there with Jeanne and the angels.

When our meeting finished and it was time to go, I had to confess to Jeanne that I felt that SHE was the meaning for my travel to England and that all some how I felt that moment as my very first big step to real freedom, enlightenment and true happiness.

To talk about how much my life has changed since then is as simple as to say that every day I understand and love myself and others better and that I now live and share the greatness of the ABSOLUTE TRUE LIGHT AND LOVE. I live in true gratitude and laugh with joy at this entire divine miracle that brought US together.
